Microscope Dentistry

Published Article: Space Coast Medicine & Healthy Living

By: Chris Edwards DDS

Microscopes have been used in general medicine in some form or the other since the 60s. Some Endodontists (root canal specialists) have been using microscopes in dentistry for the past 10 years. Endodontists work in a very restricted operating field, peering down long, dark roots of infected teeth. It has proved invaluable in uncovering difficult canals and root fractures.

Many dentists appreciate magnification and use magnifying loupes when working in the mouth. Loupes magnification is usually 2.5 to 4 power. A few high tech general dentists have begun using the microscope and for a very good reason.

Success in dentistry is determined by visually looking in the mouth and seeing problems when they are small before they progress into trouble. Click here to read the entire article

Mrs. Lily Constantino

The Newest Member of the Smile Design Team

I would like to introduce to all of my patients our newest edition to the Smile Design Center team, Mrs. Lily Constantino.

Lily lived in California until her family moved to Homestead, Florida when she was 13 years old. She moved to North Carolina, where she lived for 16 years, with her husband Tony and her two daughters Dallas and Landry. Sixteen years ago, Lily and Tony were driving to south Florida to visit family and noticed the new construction in north Melbourne and thought it might be a good place to live; within a few months they had packed up and moved down here. Both of her daughters live in Jacksonville and she has a new 10 week old grandson named Gavin. Lily is a huge Dallas Cowboys fan and has two rooms in her house filled with Cowboys decor.

Lily has been in the dental field for over ten years, eight of which were in a successful oral surgery office. We know that you will come to enjoy her as she checks you in and out of the office and schedules your appointments. We are so happy to welcome Lily to our team and encourage you to as well!
